Achtergrond:

Bjorn Ingelstam: Award winning swedish Jazz trumpet player based in New York and Copenhagen.

Björn has, despite his young age (born 1990), established himself on the European jazz scene with his powerful sound and virtuosity on his instrument. He has toured professionally both as soloist and with his own group since he was 15 years old. Now relocated in New York, Björn is studying music for some of the greatest jazz musicians of all time including Reggie Workman, Lew Soloff and Jimmy Owens. Along with his studies he continues to pursue his professional career both in Europe and America. In the New York jazz scene, Björn has already played with some of the top names in the world and also regularly performed on world famous jazz club Birdland.
